ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A network device managing apparatus is designed so that when a list of network devices or a list showing states of the network devices is displayed in accordance with a request from a data processing apparatus, the network device to be emphasis-displayed is changed every user or every data processing apparatus.